Palmer Trinity food drive helps families in Florida City

BY ADRIANNE RICHARDSON
schoolscenemia@gmail.com

Having a long-standing relationship with Branches, a local nonprofit, Palmer Trinity School recently helped more than 500 families, based in Florida City, who were in need of food.

The school donated fresh herbs and produce harvested from the school gardens and donated food from the cafeteria, which included frozen meats, snacks, fruits and vegetables, and eggs.

In addition, Palmer Trinity School launched a food drive for people in the community who want to safely drop off non-perishable items to help Florida City families.

"In a small way, we were able to help Branches at this critical time," said Patrick Roberts, head of school. "We will continue to answer the call to serve in the habit of heart and mind."

ONLINE CLASSES AT MIAMI-DADE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

All Miami-Dade County Public Schools will remain closed through May 1, as recommended by the Florida Department of Education.

Starting April 6, Attendance Services will capture student attendance through sign-ins to the student portal. If a student fails to log into the portal, parents will receive an automated phone call the next day, indicating that the student was marked absent. For information or to appeal an absence, parents can visit attendance-services.dadeschools.net.

Scheck Hillel Community School

Scheck Hillel Community School's Noah Galsky participates in a virtual PK4 class that features live instruction and recorded content.

"School closures are never ideal, but this extension is the most prudent move, considering the wide-ranging community restrictions in place to combat the coronavirus outbreak," said M-DCPS Superintendent Alberto Carvalho. "We have been preparing for a worst-case scenario since early on, and I am confident that our students and their families, with the guidance of our fantastic teachers, will continue to successfully engage in distance learning."

TRANSITION TO ONLINE LEARNING

Scheck Hillel Community School, as other schools have done in South Florida due to the spread of the coronavirus, has transformed the school's academic program for more than 1,000 students into a virtual school.

"I want to thank our faculty and staff for working tirelessly to create a most meaningful educational experience, our parents for their partnership, and our students for their technological savvy, resilience, and smiles," said Vanessa Donaher, head of Scheck Hillel Community School. "As a Jewish day school, we have an ethical and moral responsibility to do our part in helping to stop the spread of this virus."

To keep screen time to a minimum, each grade level receives live instruction and recorded content that's readily available on a desktop or laptop, phone, tablet, or smart TV. For community service, students are visiting nursing homes through FaceTime chats, pre-recorded messages and virtual music performances.

Lehrman Community Day School's fifth-grade Mitzvah Club completed a coronavirus mitzvah project that involved raising money to deliver a catered lunch to the emergency room staff at Mount Sinai Medical Center in Miami Beach.

Many students contributed to the lunch using their own money, and parents matched their donations. Students also prepared cards to thank the staff at Mount Sinai for their heroic work and dedication, as well as to offer words of encouragement.

Jennifer Rapp, an alumna of Lehrman, the Jewish day school in Miami Beach, organized the project.

"Our community couldn't do this without the hard work and dedication from our healthcare workers," said Rapp. "It gave me such gratitude to be able to share in this mitzvah with my daughter and her classmates."

SOUTH MIAMI, MIAMI LAKES WINNERS AT C-SPAN COMPETITION

Several Miami-Dade County students from South Miami Middle School and Miami Lakes Educational Center were recognized in C-SPAN's 2020 StudentCam Competition last month.

Students earned cash prizes for their short documentaries that addressed the theme: What's your vision in 2020? With this theme, students explored the issue that they want presidential candidates to address most in their campaigns.

The winners from South Miami Middle School included Vincent Granados, Casey Golden, and Max Molitor, who placed second and won $1,500 for their documentary, "Our Roads: A Wise Investment."

Their documentary aired on April 9 on C-SPAN. Sophia Bacallao, Victoria Cepero, and Scarlett Luis earned honorable mentions and won $250 for their documentary, "Global Warming Crisis: Sea Level Rise." Nicholas Fernandez also earned an honorable mention and received $250 for his documentary, "Too Little, Too Late?" which focused on climate change.

The winners from Miami Lakes Educational Center who earned an honorable mention and $250 prize were Daniel Gonzalez III, Michelle Mairena and Khimmoy Hudson. Their documentary, "Immigration: The Broken System," focused on immigration.

"StudentCam provides a platform for young people to have their voices heard on the issues they are clearly passionate about," said C-SPAN's Director of Education Relations Craig McAndrew. "This year's entries reflect remarkable research and production values and feature a wide range of interviews with elected officials and experts. The life skills students learn from this experience will carry them forward in their academic, personal, and professional lives."

MIAMI-DADE COUNTY SCHOOLS SERVING MEALS

Miami-Dade County Public Schools has distributed more than 500,000 grab-and-go meals to families in need districtwide since March 16, which marked the beginning of school closures due to COVID-19. M-DCPS employees have helped distribute these meals at 50 select school sites to ensure that students still receive meals.

"We will be with our community through this crisis, every step of the way," said M-DCPS Superintendent Alberto Carvalho. "I want to shine the spotlight on the brave men and women of Miami-Dade County Public Schools who maintain the lifeline of food distribution to the neediest in our community, and thank the many generous donors and partners who support our efforts."

Meals are served Monday to Friday, from 4 to 7 p.m. For a list of all M-DCPS meal distribution sites, please visit covid19.dadeschools.net/. #
