Miami Beach G.O. Bond Program Preserves Arts and Culture Buildings —With Sustainable Roof Restorations—

WHO/WHAT: Join the City of Miami Beach on Tuesday, September 3 as it celebrates the unveiling of a new “cool roof” at The Colony Theatre. The sustainable roof installation features a white reflective surface that helps keep the inside of the building cool.

The Mayor and City Commission will commemorate the event alongside City Manager Jimmy L. Morales and several community leaders who have long anticipated the preservation and strengthening of Miami Beach’s cultural facilities.

The Colony Theatre was one of three Miami Beach arts and culture institutions to be identified in a city inspection for needing full roof replacements. The other two roofs, located at The Fillmore and the Miami City Ballet, are also in the process of being restored with sustainable and resilient roofing systems.

All three roof replacements are funded by the city’s $439 million General Obligation (G.O.) Bond Program, which residents voted to approve by over 70 percent in the November 2018 referendum. For more information, visit www.GOMBINFO.com.

WHEN: Tuesday, September 3 at 11 a.m.

WHERE: The Colony Theatre
1040 Lincoln Road
