Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for Nautilus' Polo Park —Thursday, September 5 at Polo Park—

WHO/WHAT: Join the City of Miami Beach for a ribbon-cutting ceremony at Nautilus' Polo Park to celebrate the recently completed construction that was funded as part of the city's $439 million total General Obligation (G.O.) Bond Program.

The Mayor and City Commission will inaugurate Polo Park as the first park project of the G.O. Bond Program to reach 100 percent completion. City Manager Jimmy L. Morales will also be there to introduce the new and improved park features to the Nautilus-area community.

In just one month of construction time, Polo Park has been upgraded with several baseball field enhancements that include a full laser-grading of the field, new dugouts, additional spectator bleachers, taller fencing and safety netting and a new backstop. A new concrete perimeter pathway was also installed along with new landscaping, irrigation, water fountains, benches, picnic tables and trash receptacles.

Two other park projects – Crespi Park and Stillwater Park – will also be recognized for nearing their completions as both North Beach parks are expected to finish their G.O. Bond-funded renovations within the next few weeks. Under the Mayor & Commission's direction and as a result of community input, a significant $169 million of the G.O. Bond program is allocated to park improvement projects.

For more information on these and other G.O. Bond projects, visit www.GOMBINFO.com.

WHEN: Thursday, September 5 at 4:30 p.m.

WHERE: Polo Park
