Additional Tickets Released for Alanis Morissette's 'Miami Beach Live!' Concert

— The seven-time Grammy Award-winning artist takes the stage on March 12 —

Miami Beach, FL – Additional resident general admission tickets have just been added for Alanis Morissette's sold out March 12 concert at Miami Beach Live! through Sunday, February 20, 2022 at noon. The Canadian-born Morissette's "Jagged Little Pill" album sold 30 million copies and became the highest-selling debut album worldwide.

"We are reconfiguring our outdoor venue to accommodate the tremendous interest in Ms. Morissette's one-night-only performance in Miami Beach," explained Director of Tourism & Culture Lissette García Arrogante. "We will have additional space available for all levels of the event, including more free general admission tickets for Miami Beach residents with proof of residence."

"Miami Beach Live!" will activate the Lummus Park area of South Beach and the beachfront between 10 to 13 streets each weekend in March starting on Friday, March 4 through Sunday, March 27. The performances cover a range of musical genres from pop to international and symphonic Broadway. The entire month will feature daytime programming, Friday night movies, Saturday evening concerts and Tasty Sundays with prix fixe menus at some of Miami Beach's best-known restaurants.

Jon Batiste, this year's most Grammy-nominated artist, will open for Morissette. The high-energy band leader on CBS's "The Late Show with Stephen Colbert" earned a whopping 11 Grammy nominations in seven fields, more than any other artist.

Four-time, Grammy-nominated trio Wilson Phillips will headline the debut of "Miami Beach Live!" on Saturday, March 5, performing number one hits like "Hold On," "Release Me" and "You're in Love." The performers are known for their sparkling harmonies and memorable appearance in the blockbuster motion picture, "Bridesmaids," which brought the group a whole new generation of fans. Wilson Phillips also starred in the TV Guide Network reality show, "Wilson Phillips: Still Holding On."

Colombian superstar Juanes, the chart-topping "Camisa Negra" Latin rocker is up on March 19. His debut album, "Fijate Bien," brought Juanes the Latin Grammy for Best New Artist in a musical career that catapulted him to global acclaim as one of the most important Latin music artists in the world. Juanes has earned 20 Latin Grammy Awards. Genre-bending orchestra Nu Deco Ensemble, young Cuban sensation Cimafunk and Brooklyn-based Afrobeat band Antibalas open for Juanes.

Broadway sensation, actress and author Bernadette Peters closes out “Miami Beach Live!” on Saturday, March 26 with an opening performance by Brian Stokes Mitchell. One of the best-known Broadway performers, Peters is also known to television and movie audiences.

Tickets for all the “Miami Beach Live!” concerts are available through Ticketmaster. Additional resident general admission tickets are now available through Sunday, February 20, 2022 at noon for Morissette. Free resident general admission tickets are still available for the Wilson Phillips show, but are sold out for the other remaining performances. Residents can use their zip code as the “access key” at the point of purchase to receive a maximum of four (4) tickets per household. Resident VIP tickets cost $100. Nonresident general admission tickets cost $10. Nonresident VIP tickets cost $125.

Anyone who reserved free resident tickets for Miami Beach Live! but is unable to attend is asked to return their free tickets by clicking the “Message” option on the Universe website here.
